MEMORIES for the making

Some moments just feel like magic. We still remember the joy in the room as the baby took those first few steps. We can smell cookies baking in our childhood kitchen. And we'll never forget the excitement of jumping out of bed and rushing to the tree on Christmas morning. Moments like these are the ones you want to hold on to forever—the memories our ornaments are created to keep.

"Part of why I love what I do so much is because every ornament we design is going to represent a moment in time for someone," says Keepsake Editorial Director Lindsay Evans. "So, whether you got married this year or your kid is really into Spider-Man, when you pull that ornament out of your storage box and hang it on your tree, it's going to be attached to a memory and a moment in your life, every single year."

Simone Mariano, a new Keepsake artist who joined the studio in 2024, says her work has opened her eyes to the ways people choose family heirlooms and preserve their memories.

"I was at my first ornament signing event with another artist, Kristina Gaughran, when a collector brought in one of her ornaments from 1996 to have it signed. Just seeing that made me realize how special this is," says Simone. "I think of that moment whenever I'm designing—someone could be showing this to me 20 years from now."

Whether you're starting a new tradition or you've been collecting ornaments for decades, we've designed our 2025 collection to help you and your family capture all the moments that made this year feel like magic. Thank you for letting us be part of your Christmas memories.

Timeless treasures, modern classics

"My grandfather was a wood sculptor so my love of tactile art with natural elements began when I was young," says Keepsake Artist Gregor Benedetti.

In papercraft, classic materials, modern design and Hallmark's paper company history intertwine to create beautifully detailed ornaments featuring laser-cut wooden frames, layered paper scenes—and now light and sound.

"This year, Disney Pinocchio is celebrating its 85th anniversary, so we've added lights to make the scene glow, and I designed the wooden frame after a window in Geppetto's workshop," Gregor says. "And for Harry Potter™ fans, the Hogwarts™ castle features gold foil accents on the windows and torches, glowing lights and music from 'Hedwig's Theme.'"

Santa's Sidekicks

Our favorite holiday helpers, elves and reindeer, are the stars of two sweet new series from Keepsake Artists Allie Robillard and Rob Stanphill.

"In Eight Tiny Reindeer, I wanted to put my own spin on the classic characters from 'The Night Before Christmas' poem," says Allie. "Starting with Dasher, each series ornament will have a unique color palette, a jingling bell and a saddle blanket with their name. The blankets have a homemade quality, like Mrs. Claus sewed them herself. And every reindeer has a special birthmark!"

Rob's series, Welcome to Elfville, takes us into the heart of a happy holiday town filled with elves. Each ornament is actually a set of two: a full-size festive shop and a miniature shop owner. The first small business (pun intended) is Candy's Bakery.

"I imagined all the things Candy would fill her shop with. Rolling pins, oven mitts, cinnamon bread, cookies and more all found a place in the architecture," Rob says. "I'm always looking for ways to spark the imagination of kids and adults, and I'm excited to see Elfville grow with new residents, interesting buildings and fun little places to visit."

Baking up some fun

Sugar and spice, Gnaughty and Gnice, and all your favorite series—that's what this collaborative design is made of. "Our studio ornament is always fun because every artist has a chance to put a little personality into it," says Keepsake Artist Orville Wilson. "Sharon Visker came up with the original design, and all the artists sketched a fun kitchen detail or a piece from one of their series. Then I spent two weeks sculpting and coloring every little character and accent."

From Nellco appliances to Cup of Cozy, the kitchen table is filled with favorite Keepsake Ornament series reimagined as sweet treats and baking supplies. And, of course, the merry and mischievous Gnome for Christmas brothers are head chefs. How many series can you find?

Next stop: Lionelville®

This year, Lionel Trains is celebrating its 125th anniversary. We've been proud partners since our first LIONEL® Trains ornament released in 1996, and almost 30 years later we're still finding new ways to surprise our collectors. This year's Lionel table decoration, our first ever, began with a 2004 ornament by retired artist Ken Crow. Matt Johnson customized it with a fresh color palette, new train models and an anniversary billboard.

"I used a three-dimensional scanner to create the basic framework, then resculpted and added in all the textures and colors—and every single rock. I loved the process of fine-tuning those details," Matt says.

He also collaborated with Keepsake Engineer Samantha Heryford to rebuild the mechanics and develop new magic features. The result is a 360-degree interactive scene with moving trains and railroad crossing arms, tunnels, lights, sound and a controller that allows you to change the direction of the trains. All aboard!

The show goes on!

We pulled out all the stops for this year's ShowToppers collection, which means you can have a Halloween tree in October, a Christmas tree in December and a Star Wars™ tree all year long—lucky you!

All the fun-size trees and toppers in the collection are interchangeable for mix-and-match decorating—and they're full of fun features, too. Just choose your topper and connect it to a ShowToppers tree to see them both come to life with light and sound.

We even brought back our much-loved Vintage Santa topper and skirt and classic green tree (next page).

Welcome back, foolish mortals!

The third and final year of our Disney The Haunted Mansion Collection is here, bringing you the last two ornaments in the series and a frightfully fun new tree topper.

"We heard from our collectors that they really wanted to see the Haunted Mansion from Disneyland—and we listened!" says Keepsake Artist Orville Wilson. "I was a big fan of the ride when I visited the park myself, but I still spent a week researching the house and collecting images from every different angle so I could get all those rustic, haunted details just right."

With interactive light, music and dialogue, this collection comes together to bring the Haunted Mansion to life...if you dare to enter. Any volunteers?

75 years of Peanuts®

Snoopy and his pals have brought happiness to fans of all ages since 1950, so we're celebrating their big milestone with our favorite form of happiness...new ornaments!

"Peanuts is a longtime partner of Hallmark, and they trust us to take Charles Schulz's beloved characters and create new favorites for fans, like I've done for this 75th anniversary ornament," says Keepsake Artist Gregor Benedetti. "I love how these stories speak to both kids and the kid in all of us."

Keepsake Artist Tammy Haddix agrees there's something magical about working on characters you've known since childhood. Together with Adan Chung, she created this year's Snoopy as The Flying Ace ornament, which features four scenes from the classic comic strip and music from "Snoopy vs. The Red Baron" performed by The Royal Guardsmen, just like in the TV special.

"I want anyone who sees my ornaments to go 'Aww!'" Tammy says. "I hope Snoopy fans love it."
